In making a decision about reactivation in the rights of a student, the dean shall determine the student's achievements to date, including learning outcomes or ECTS credits earned, the semester (year) in which the student will be enrolled, and the courses to be completed along with the deadline for completing them.

6. A person expelled from the register of students for the reason set forth in § 40 section 1 item 4 may be readmitted after meeting the conditions set forth in the regulations governing disciplinary proceedings.

7. A person referred to in § 40 section 1 item 3 may, within a period of no longer than 2 years from the date of expulsion from the register of students, apply to resume study in order to submit a diploma dissertation or diploma examination by that date. The 2-year period begins on the date when the first decision to expel for failure to submit the diploma dissertation or diploma examination becomes final.

IX. COMPLETION OF STUDIES

§ 42. Detailed requirements for the completion of first-cycle and second-cycle studies and long-cycle studies, as well as requirements for theses and the form of diploma examinations, are defined by the Faculty Council.

§ 43.1. A bachelor's/engineering/master's thesis, hereinafter referred to as the diploma dissertation, shall be prepared by a student under the direction of a supervisor: professor, habilitated doctor, or doctor. In justifiable cases during the first-cycle study, the dean may authorize a person with the professional title of master to supervise the diploma dissertation. The dean may also authorize a specialist from outside the University, who meets the aforementioned conditions, to supervise the diploma dissertation.

2. The duties of the dissertation supervisor may be performed by two people with the permission and according to specific rules established by the dean if this does not lead to an increase in the number of teaching hours associated with their realization. The dean designates the person who is entirely responsible for performing all of the tasks of the dissertation supervisor.

3. For experimental courses and those involving fieldwork, the head of the teaching unit in which the diploma dissertation is submitted may appoint – in consultation with the supervisor – a dissertation advisor, provided that no second supervisor has been appointed. The advisor's tasks include assistance in performing the experimental part of the dissertation, solving technical problems and supervising the safety of the student's work.

4. Master's theses topics approved according to the procedure set forth by the Faculty Council should be made known to students no later than 2 semesters before graduation, while bachelor's and engineering theses, if provided for in the program of study, no later than 1 semester before graduation.

5. A diploma dissertation is an independent study of a specific scientific, artistic or practical problem, or a technical or artistic achievement, presenting a student's general knowledge and skills related to a given field, level and profile of study, as well as independent analysis and reasoning skills. The diploma thesis may include, in particular, a written work, a published article, a project work, including the design and implementation of a computer program or system.

6. A diploma dissertation developed by a team of students, common to all, may be accepted as a diploma dissertation.

7. A diploma dissertation written within the framework of a student's scientific association may be accepted as a diploma dissertation.

8. A diploma thesis may be executed with the consent of the dean at another faculty or outside the University of Wrocław (at another Polish or foreign university, at a Polish or foreign research center, or at another center conducting research of a scientific nature).

9. In justified cases, a student may, with the consent of the dean, submit a diploma dissertation in a language other than the language in which the student is studying.

10. Before a diploma examination, the diploma dissertation is always checked using an anti-plagiarism software that cooperates with a nationwide repository of written diploma dissertations, in accordance with separate regulations in force at the University.

11. In justified cases, with the permission of the dean, a student may change the dissertation supervisor.

12. A diploma dissertation is evaluated by the dissertation supervisor and a reviewer. In the case of a significant discrepancy in the thesis evaluation, the final evaluation is decided by the dean, who may consult a second reviewer.

13. The provisions of section 1 shall apply to reviewers accordingly; however, a master's dissertation must be evaluated by at least one habilitated doctor or professor.

§ 44. In the event that the supervisor is absent for a period exceeding 90 days, the dean may appoint a new supervisor for the diploma dissertation. If a request from a student has been received in this matter, the dean will appoint a new supervisor for the diploma dissertation no later than 14 days after the request has been delivered to the dean.

§ 45.1. In order to take a diploma examination, a student must:

- 1) pass all compulsory subjects included in the program of study of a given course and obtain the appropriate number of ECTS points (recognized by the dean);
- 2) obtain a grade of at least "satisfactory" for the diploma dissertation, provided that it is required by the program of study.
 2. The diploma examination takes place on a date set by the dean.
 3. The examination takes place before a commission appointed by the dean and consisting of at least three persons. The commission shall be composed of the supervisor and the reviewer(s). The commission is chaired by an academic teacher appointed by the dean who holds the title of professor or the degree of habilitated doctor.
 4. The diploma examination is taken in Polish or in a foreign language, if the program of study provides such a solution. In justified cases and with the approval of the dean, the diploma examination may be taken in a foreign language.
 5. If a student does not pass the diploma examination or does not take it by the set deadline, the dean, at the student's request, designates a second date. In the event that a student does not pass the diploma examination on the second date or does not take it, the student is expelled from the register of students.
 6. Detailed rules for conducting the diploma examination are laid down by the Faculty Council, upon a request from the dean.

§ 46.1. At the request of a student or supervisor, the diploma examination may take place in the form of an open examination.

2. The request referred to in section 1, directed to the dean, must be submitted to the dean's office no later than 1 month before the scheduled date of the diploma examination.
3. Information about open diploma examinations is published on the faculty website.
4. The provisions of § 45 sections 3 and 4 apply to the open diploma examination.

§ 47.1. The condition of obtaining diploma is obtaining at least satisfactory grade from diploma dissertation and at least satisfactory grade from diploma examination.

2. The basis for calculating the result of the studies are:

- 1) the arithmetic mean of the grades earned during the studies (except for invalidated grades) – A;
- 2) grade on diploma dissertation – B;
- 3) grade on diploma examination – C.

3. The outcome of a first-cycle program is determined by the formula $3A/4+(B+C)/8$. If the program of study does not include a diploma dissertation, the result of the study is determined by the formula $(3A+C)/4$.

4. The result of a long-cycle master's program and a second-cycle master's program is determined by the formula $A/2+(B+C)/4$.

5. The arithmetic mean of A grades and the outcome of the studies referred to in sections 3 and 4 shall be calculated to two decimal places using general rounding rules. (The rejection of a digit 5, 6, 7, 8 or 9 increases the retained digit by 1).

6. The diploma of graduation shall include the final outcome of the studies, weighted according to the following principle:

- from 3.24 – satisfactory (3.0),
- from 3.25 to 3.74 – better than satisfactory (3.5),
- from 3.75 to 4.24 – good (4.0),
- from 4.25 to 4.74 – better than good (4.5),
- from 4.75 – very good (5.0).

7. The examination commission may increase the final grade for the course of study referred to in section 6 by 0.5 if the student has received very good grades on the diploma dissertation and the diploma examination.

§ 48.1. A student shall be obliged to settle all liabilities, including financial and library liabilities, to the University at least three days before taking the diploma examination.

2. A diploma which a graduate receives upon graduation, confirms the completion of a specific course of study.

The dean's office is obligated to confirm that a complete request has been submitted, if the inquirer wishes so.
